

give us some surprises, such as in the case of Dimitrie Cantemir's wedding with Casandra (his first wife) in spite of divergences between Brâncoveanu and the Cantemirs or Maria Cantacuzino. The episode is perfect for a novel topic.

On the other hand, from the amounts recorded in the Treasury Register in it can be made some statistics about the importance of the wedding moments and also can be made statistics about the persons who have received money from the treasury, observing from it the notoriety and importance.